

Natural Beekeeping Workshop

August 25th- 26th, 2011

7213 Plympton, Hwy. 101, Digby Co., NS
(20 minutes from Digby)

Thursday, Aug. 25th 9am - 5pm

Friday Aug. 26th 9am - 1 pm

Cost: $200.00 including coffee breaks and snacks and lunch on the 25th.

Registration required by 25th of July, 2011
by email klauslangpohl@ns.sympatico.ca
or phone: 902-837-1030

Klaus Langpohl is conducting a hands-on Natural Beekeeping Workshop designed for beginners and for those who wish to change their beekeeping methods to new ones for healthier hives. Klaus will share with you the system he has developed to raise healthy bees. This system is the result of four years of research, experience and studying biodynamic principles for natural beekeeping and incorporating diverse natural beekeeping approaches from around the world. If you wish to keep bees without chemicals, learn about an advanced system developed for the hives health, experience the process of working with a hive in the apiary, extracting honey from the combs and become part of an interesting interactive learning process, this is the opportunity. This workshop is not for the beekeeper that wishes to operate pollination services or do large scale beekeeping - it is labour intensive and more suitable for chemical free, small scale apiaries.

For further information please call 902-837-1030 or klauslangpohl@ns.sympatico.ca